

Orange County Global Medical Center and OCFA to Feature Holiday Fire Hazard Demonstrations and Safety Tips

Contacts: Jeff Corless, Orange County Global Medical Center, KPC Health
(714) 676-8878 or Jeff.Corless@kpchealth.com

Kelsey Eiben, Orange County Global Medical Center, KPC Health
(714) 676-8879 or Kelsey.Eiben@kpchealth.com

Captain Steve Concialdi, Orange County Fire Authority
(714) 357-7782 or steveconcialdi@ocfa.org

Who: To encourage caution this holiday season, Orange County Global Medical Center (OCGMC) and the Orange County Fire Authority (OCFA), are partnering to raise awareness to avoid fire hazards and unwanted injuries this Thanksgiving.

What: OCGMC and OCFA invite you to the OCGMC parking lot to demonstrate the importance of exercising caution during the Thanksgiving season. Too often, Thanksgiving Day can end with loved ones in the Emergency room due to oil burns from turkey fryers or unattended candles. Firefighters and hospital staff will demonstrate how to avoid fire hazards and unwanted injuries. In addition, there will be a demonstration on how easily a turkey fryer and unattended candles can catch on fire. OCGMC and OCFA are partnering with many other agencies this holiday season to encourage safety while everyone enjoys the holidays.

Speakers at this event will include the following representatives:

- Steve Concialdi (OCFA)
- Dr. Andrea Dunkelman (Medical Director, Orange County Burn Center)
- Dr. Humberto Sauri (Medical Director, Trauma Services, OCGMC)

When: Monday, Nov. 23, 2015 at 11 a.m.

Where: Orange County Global Medical Center
1001 N. Tustin Avenue
Tustin, CA 92705

Great Visual Opportunities for Video and Print – Interviews Available in English and Spanish!