Orange County Fire Authority Media Conference for Expected Rain OCFA Station 41 in Fullerton

Who: The Orange County Fire Authority will be conducting a media conference highlighting the expected rain event, the dangers associated with heavy rain, and our anticipated response to emergency incidents involving inclement weather.

What: This weekend, the Orange County area will experience what is predicted to be the strongest storm system of the season so far. Approximately three to six inches of rainfall is expected. The OCFA is prepared for this event with highly-trained air and ground resources. OCFA experts will speak to the expected weather, possible repercussions, and the resources ready to respond if the need arises. Equipment such as helicopters, swift water response units, and heavy rescue vehicles will be on hand for picture, video, and interview opportunities.

When: Thursday, January 19 at 11 a.m.
Media staging begins at 10 a.m.

Where: Orange County Fire Authority Station #41, Fullerton Airport
3900 West Artesia Avenue, Fullerton 92833

###

The OCFA is a joint powers authority that serves more than 1.8 million residents in 23 cities and the unincorporated areas of the county.
